

Trailblazer RC&D

Fourteenth Annual Women's Wilderness Weekend: The "Women's Wilderness Weekend" was designed not only to increase tourism but also to make women aware of the many outdoor recreational opportunities available to them. Many women return year after year to learn new skills and enjoy comradery with women that similar interests.

The three-day event was held at the South Central 4-H Camp, located on Harlan County Reservoir. Seventy women attended outdoor sessions which included, canoeing, kayaking, fishing, hunting, sailing, handguns, archery, backyard habitat, outdoor photography, candle making and much more. This year a cream can dinner was a big hit with participants. And, of course, there was also time for fun and local entertainment.

A registration fee of $180.00 was required. However, $50.00 scholarships were made available to women in need. A large number of door prizes were also made available from area businesses.

Partners along with the Trailblazer RC&D included Cooperative Extension, Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, Lower Republican NRD, Little Blue NRD, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Cabela's, and Harlan County Tourism.
